Jane White Participates in FT Live Asset Management Panel

FT Live | Future of Asset Management North America

October 19, 2026 | Omni Boston Hotel at the Seaport | Boston, MA

Jane White of Granahan Investment Management participated in a panel discussion at FT Live's Future of Asset Management North America conference, exploring how asset managers can modernize their operating models amid increasingly complex investment products, data, and client expectations.

The discussion addressed the challenges of fragmented systems and manual processes; the capabilities needed across portfolio management, trading, compliance, operations and client reporting; and how unified data, AI-enabled workflows and strategic technology partnerships can support efficiency, control and better decision-making.
